

ABSTRACT

A process for manufacturing an article by molding and the article obtained by the process. The process includes an injection molding in a mold, a vacuum water extraction, and a demolding the fresh article.